

Important information for NCDC Users

Along with the change in data access recently instituted by the National Climate Data Center website, they have also changed the precipitation data format. Data received as an ASCII or TEXT file is in 10ths of millimeters while data received on their PDF Form is in 100ths of inches. NCDC only states this on page 4 of an obscure document.